It must be clearly understood by you that your dealings on Stock exchanges through a stock broker shall be subject to your fulfilling certain formalities set out by the stock broker, which may inter alia include your filling the know your client form, reading the rights and obligations, do's and don'ts, etc., and are subject to the Rules, Byelaws and Regulations of relevant Stock exchanges, its Clearing Corporation, guidelines prescribed by SEBI and in force from time to time and Circulars as may be issued by Stock exchanges or its Clearing Corporation and in force from time to time.

Stock exchanges does not provide or purport to provide any advice and shall not be liable to any person who enters into any business relationship with any stock broker of Stock exchanges and/or any third party based on any information contained in this document must not be construed as business advice. No consideration to trade should be made without thoroughly understanding and reviewing the risks involved in such trading. If you are unsure, you must seek professional advice on the same.

In considering whether to trace or authorize someone to trade for you, you should be aware of or must get acquainted with the following:-

1. BASIC RISKS:

1.1 Risk of Higher Volatility:

Volatility refers to the dynamic changes in price that a security/derivatives contract undergoes when trading activity continues on the Stock Exchanges. Generally, higher the volatility of a security/derivatives contract, greater is its price swings. There may be normally greater volatility in thirty traded securities / derivatives contracts than in active securities // derivatives contracts. As a result of volatility, your order may only be partially executed or not executed at all, or the price at which your notional or real losses.

1.2 Risk of Lawer Liquidity;

Liquidity refers to the ability of market participants to buy and/or sell securities / derivatives contracts expeditiously at a competitive price and with minimal price difference. Generally, it is assumed that more the numbers of orders available in a market, greater is the liquidity. Liquidity is important because with greater liquidity; it is easier for investors to buy and/or sell securities I derivatives contracts swiftly and with minimal price difference, and as a result, investors are more likely to pay or. receive a competitive price for securities / derivatives contracts purchased or sold. There may be a risk of lower liquidity in some securities / derivatives contracts as compared to active securities / derivatives contracts. As a result, your order may only be partially executed, or may be executed with relatively greater price difference or may not be executed at all.

1.2.1 Buying or selling securities / derivatives contracts as part of a day trading strategy may also result into losses, because in such a situation, securities / derivatives contracts may have to be sold / purchased at low / high prices, compared to the expected price levels, so as not to have any open position or obligation to deliver or receive a security / derivatives contract. 1.3 Risk of Wider Spreads;

Spread refers to the difference in best buy price and best sell price. It represents the differential between the price of buying a security I derivatives contract and immediately selling it or vice versa. Lower liquidity and higher volatility may result in wider than normal spreads for less liquid or illiquid securities / derivatives contracts. This in turn will hamper better price formation. 1.4 Risk-reducing orders:

The placing of orders (e.g., "stop loss" orders, or "limit" orders) which are intended to limit losses to certain amounts may not te effective many a time because rapid movement in market conditions may make it impossible to execute such orders.

- 1.4.1 A "market" order will be executed promptly, subject to availability of orders on opposite side, without regard to price and that, while the customer may receive a prompt execution of a "market" order, the execution may be at available prices of outstanding orders, which satisfy the order quantity, on price time priority. It may be understood that these prices may be significantly different from the last traded price or the best price in that security / derivatives contract.
- 1.4.2 A "limit" order will be executed only at the "limit" price specified for the order or a better price. However, while the customer receives price protection, there is a possibility that the order may not be executed at all.
- 1.4.3 A stop loss order is generally placed "away" from the current price of a stock / derivatives contract, and such order gets activated if and when the security / derivatives contract reaches, or trades through, the stop price. Sell stop orders are entered ordinarily below the current price, and buy stop orders are entered ordinarily above the current price. When the security / derivatives contract reaches the pre-determined price, or trades through such price, the slop loss order converts laa market/limit order and is executed at the limit or boder. There is no assurance therefore that the limit order will be executable since a security / derivatives combact might penetrate the pre-determined price, in which case, the risk of such order not getting executed arises, just as with a regular limit order.

1.5 Risk of News Announcements:

News announcements that may impact the price of stock / derivatives contract may occur during trading, and when combined with lower liquidity and higher volatility, may suddenly cause an unexpected positive or negative movement in the price of the 1.6 Risk of Rumors:

Rumors about companies / correspies at times float in the market through word of mouth, newspapers, websites or news agencies, etc. The investors should be wary of and should desist from acting on rumors.

High volume trading will frequently occur at the market opening and before market close. Such high volumes may also occur at any point in the day. These may cause delays in order execution or confirmation.

1.7.1 During periods of volatility, on account of market participants continuously modifying their order quantity or prices or placing fresh orders, there may be delays in order execution and its confirmations.

1.7.2 Under certain market conditions, it may be difficult or impossible to liquidate a position in the market at a reasonable price or at all, when there are no outstanding orders either on the buy side or the sell side, or if trading is halted in a security (derivatives contract due to any action on account of unusual trading activity or security / derivatives contract hiding circuit

1.8 System/Helwork Congestion:

Trading on exchanges is in electronic mode, based on satellite/leased line based communications, combination of technologies and computer systems to place and route orders. Thus, there exists a possibility of communication failure or system problems or slow or delayed response from system or trading halt, or any such other problem/glitch whereby not being able to establish access to the trading system/network, which may be beyond control and may result in delay in processing or not processing buy or sell orders either in part or in full. You are cautioned to note that although these problems may be temporary in nature, but when you have outstanding open positions or unexecuted orders, these represent a risk because of your obligations to settle all executed transactions.

2. s.s. for as Derivatives segments are concerned, please note and gel yourself acquainted with the following additional leatures;

2.1 Effect of "Leverage" or "Gearing":

In the derivatives market, the amount of margin is small relative to the value of the derivatives contract so the transactions are "leveraged" or 'geared". Derivatives trading, which is conducted with a relatively small amount of margin, : "stes the possibility of great profit or loss in comparison with the margin amount. But transactions in derivatives carry a high segree of risk.

You should therefore completely understand the following statements before actually trading in derivatives and also trade with caution while taking into account one's circumstances, financial resources, etc. If the prices move against you, you may lose a part of or whole margin amount in a relatively short period of time. Moreover, the loss may exceed the original margin -

- A Futures trading trivolve daily settlement of all positions. Every day the open positions are marked to market based on the closing level of the index / derivatives contract. If the contract has moved against you, you will be required to deposit the amount of loss (notional) resulting from such movement. This amount will have to be paid within a stipulated time frame,
- 8. If you tall to deposit the additional amount by the deadline or if an outstanding debt occurs in your account, the stock bruker may liquidate a part of or the whole position or substitute securities. In this case, you will be liable for any losses incurred due to such close-outs.
- C. Under certain market conditions, an investor may find it difficult or impossible to execute transactions. For example, this situation can occur due to faciors such as illiquidity i.e. when there are insufficient bids or offers or suspension of trading due
- D. In order to maidain market statisty, the following steps may be adopted: changes in the margin rate, increases in the cash margin rate or others. These new measures may also be applied to the existing open interests. In such conditions, you will be
- E. You must ask your broker to provide the full details of derivatives contracts you plan to trade i.e. the contract specifications and the associated obligations.

2.2 Currency specific risks:

1. The profit or loss in transactions in foreign currency-denominated contracts, whether they are tracked in your own or another jurisdiction, will be affected by fluctuations in currency rates where there is a need to connect from the currency

- Unider certain market conditions, you may find it difficult or impossible to liquidate a position. This can occur, for exemple when a currency is deregulated or fixed trading-bands are widened.
- 3. Currency prices are highly volatile. Price movements for currencies are influenced by, among other things: changing supply-demand relationships; trade, liscal, monetary, exchange control programs and policies of governments; foreign political and economic events and policies; changes in national and international interest rates and inflation; currency devaluation; and sentiment of the market place. None of these factors can be controlled by any individual advisor and no will not incur losses from such events.

2.3 Risk of Option holders:

- 1. An option holder runs the risk of losing the entire amount paid for the option in a relatively short period of time. This risk reflects the nature of an option as a wasting asset which becomes worthless when it expires. An option holder who neither selfs his option in the secondary market nor exercises it prior to its expiration will necessarily lose his entire investment in the option. If the price of the underlying does not change in the anticipated direction before the option expires, to an extent sufficient to cover the cost of the option, the investor may lose at or a significant part of his investment in the option.
- 2. The Exchanges may impose exercise restrictions and have absolute authority to restrict the exercise of options at certain times in specified circumstances.

2.4 Risks of Option Writers:

1. If the price movement of the underlying is not in the anticipated direction, the option writer runs the risks of losing substantial amount.

2. The risk of being an option writer may be reduced by the purchase of other options on the same underlying interest and thereby assuming a spread position or by acquiring other types of hedging positions in the options markets or other markets. However, even where the writer has assumed a spread or other hedging position, the risks may still be significant. A spread position is not necessarily less risky than a simple fond or short position.

3. Transactions that involve buying and writing multiple options in combination, or buying or writing options in combination with buying or selling short the underlying interests, present additional risks to investors. Combination bransactions, such as option spreads, are more complex than buying or writing a single option. And it should be further noted that, as in any area of investing, a complexity not well understood is, in itself, a risk factor. While this is not to suggest that combination strategies should not be considered, it is advisable, as is the case with all investments in options, to consult with someone who is experienced and knowledgestas with respect to the risks and potential rewards of combination transactions under various market circumstances.

3. TRADING THROUGH WIRELESS TECHNOLOGY/ SMART ORDER ROUTING OR ANY OTHER TECHNOLOGY:

Any additional provisions defining the features, risks, responsibilities, obligations and liabilities associated with securities trading through wireless technology/smart order muting or any other technology should be brought to the notice of the client by the stock broker.

4. GENERAL

F. Shortages in obligations arising out of internal netting of trades

- e To determine the net obligation of a broker / trading-cum-clearing member (for securities and funds) in a settlement, clearing house does the netting of trades at the broker level. It is possible that a broker's net obligation towards clearing house may be nil but because of default by one or more clients in satisfying their obligations towards the broker, the broker internally might have shortages in fulfilling its obligation towards the other client(s). In such a situation, Stock Broker shall endeaver to collect the securities from the selling client and deliver it to the purchasing client within 48 hours, of the settlement date. In case the selling client is unable to deliver the securities within 48 hours, then Stock Broker shall attempt to purchase the securities from the market and deliver it to the purchasing client. If Stock Broker is unable to obtain the securities from the market, then the transaction will be closed out as per the auction rate prescribed by the Exchange for that script and the closing amount will be credited to the purchasing client and same will be debited to the selling client.
- In case of shortage in meeting the settlement obligation, either party shall endeavor to make good such shortage through securities / value of shortage as per the Rules, Regulations and Bye-laws of the respective stock exchange(s).

G. Conditions under which a client may not be allowed to take further position or the broker may close the existing position of the client.

Stock Broker shall have absolute discretion and authority to limit client's volume of business or to close any existing position of a client without giving any prior notice to the client under the following mentioned

- Extreme volatility in the market or in particular scrip or in the F & O segment.
- There is shortfall in the margin deposited by client with Stock Broker.
- There is insider trading restrictions on the client.
- There are any unforeseen adverse market conditions or any natural calamity affecting the operation
- There are any restrictions imposed by Exchanges or Regulator on the volume of trading outstading
- The client is undertaking any illegal trading practice or the client is suspected to be indulging in Stock Broker has reached its limit in that scrip.
- The Client has breached the client-wise limit.
- The Client has taken or intends to take new position in a security which is in the banned period.
- Due to abnormal rise or fall in the market, the markets are closed.
- Failure by the client in providing sufficient/adequate margin(s) and/or insufficient/inadequate free credit balance available in cilents broking account with Stock Broker.

H. Temporarily suspending of closing a client's account based at the Client's request

 Any client desirous of temporarily euspending his/her its trading account has to give such request in writing to the Management, After management's approval, further dealing in such client's account will be blocked. Whenever trade has to be resumed in any suspended client account, a request in writing should be made by the client to the management and the management may ask for updated financial information and other details for readilyating such account. After receiving necessary documents, details, etc. and approval from the management, the client account will be reactivated

Similarly, any client desirous of closing his/her/its accounts permanently is required to inform in writing and the decision in this regard will be taken by the management. After necessary approval from the management, the client code will be deactivated. Only after scrutinizing the compliance requirements and a 'no pending queries' confirmation is taken, securities and funds accounts will I. Deregistering a Cilent:

Slock Broker may, at its sole and absolute discretion, decide to deregister a particular client. The illustrative circumstances under which Stock Broker may deregister a client are given below:

SEBI or any other regulatory body has passed an order against such client, prohibiting or suspending

- Such client has been indicated by a regulatory body or any government enforcement agency in case of market manipulation or insider trading or any other case involving violation of any law, rule regulation, guideline or circular governing securities market.
- Such client is suspected of indulging in illegal or criminal activities including fraud or money laundering. Such client's name appears in the UN list of prohibited entities or in the SEBI debarred list.

Such client's account has been lying dormant for a long time or the client is not traceable.

Such client has been declared insolvent or any legal proceedings to declare his/her/its as insolvent Such client has been irregular in fulfilling obligations towards margin or settlement dues.

Such client has a tainted reputation and any business relationship with such clients is likely to tarnish the reputation of Stock Broker or may act as detriment to Stock Broker prospects.

e Under no circumstances, any action taken by stock Broker in any of the above circumstances till the date of registration shall be challenged by the client and stock broker shall not be liable to the client for any loss or damage (actual/notional), which may be caused to the client as a result. J. Policy for Inactive clients / Dormant Account Policy

 Any client who has not traded in any segment of BSE with Stock Broker for last six months calculated from the beginning of every financial year or such other period as may be decided by Stock Broker at its sole and absolute discretion then such client would be termed as a Dormant/Inactive Client.

The broking account of such client shall be deactivated / suspended temporarily by Stock Broker. If the client wants to activate the broking account then a request for reactivating the broking account should be sent in writing. Such request for reactivation should be accompanied along with such documentary evidence as may be specified by Stock Broker from time to time.

e if the client is tagged as a Dormant / Inactive client, then the funds / securities lying with Stock Broker may be refunded / returned to the clients at his/her/ its last known bank account/DP account or send at last known address of the client as per Stock Broker record.
